Abstract

Abstract_IJLSH

Abstracts are written with PT Serif font (9 pt) and preferably not more than 250 words. The abstract should be clear, concise, and descriptive. This abstract should provide a brief introduction to the problem, objective of paper, followed by a statement regarding the methodology and a brief summary of results. For example: This article analyses the competition law related to abuse of a dominant market position using strategy of predatory pricing by undertakings in the European Union. The purpose of this article is to survey predatory pricing as a phenomenon both within and outside the EU. The findings proved that undertakings who achieved their dominant position before the recession have significant advantage over smaller undertakings. However, they cannot necessarily afford to act on the same basis for long, which is why a model closer to that of the United States would be of benefit to control some behaviours of these undertakings. Bearing in mind that the Valio case is examined under EU law, it will be interesting to see if its judgement will be remembered as the 'milk fallacy' or if it will change the face of the case law as it currently stands.

INTRODUCTION

Heading 1_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

The introduction should be clear and should provide an issue to be discussed in the manuscript. Before the objective, authors should provide an adequate background and a very short literature survey in order to record the existing solutions, to show which is the best of previous research, to show the main limitation of the previous research, to show what do you hope to achieve (to solve the limitation), and to show the scientific merit or novelty of the paper (Saibon et al., 2017).

At the end of the paragraph, the author/s should end with a comment on the significance of identifying the research issue and objective (Abubakar, 2012; Kamali, 1998). This article analyses the comparative competition law related to abuse of a dominant market position using strategy of predatory pricing by undertakings in the European Union (hereinafter 'EU'). For this purpose, a precise case study of Valio was conducted. Antti Aine, Adjunct Professor of general competition law at the University of Turku as expert in field of European Competition Law, has been interviewed for this article. In addition, EU law on predatory pricing has been compared with the United States' predatory pricing law (Bahri, 2012; Miko et al., 2020; Putra & Irwansyah, 2018).

Therefore, this study explores the following research questions: whether EU Competition law policy is already excessively restrictive, and if so, what is the effect on the business development of undertakings with only one nationally dominant market position, and whether the products, which are legally classified as belonging to different product markets, belong de facto to the same product market in the case of being fully interchangeable with each other? (Zvobgo, 2020).

METHODS

Heading 1_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

The method is optional for original research articles. This method is descriptive and should provide a statement regarding the research methodology. This method is as much as possible to provide an idea to the reader through the methods used. The methods already published should be indicated by a reference, and only relevant modifications should be described.

RESULTS

Heading 1_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

This section is the most important section of your article. The analysis or results of the study should be clear and concise. The results should summarize (scientific) findings rather than provide detailed data.

Result about figures

Heading 2_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

All figure legends must be created using Arial font (8 pt) at a high resolution. If the figures are produced using Microsoft Office applications (Word, PowerPoint, Excel), the files should be submitted in their original, unaltered format. If the figures are created using a program other than Microsoft Office, the figures should be converted into images in TIFF or JPEG format with a minimum resolution of 300 dpi. Please note that the Editor of the IJLSH may request that authors revise their figures as needed (Figure 1).

Result about tables ← Heading 2_IJLSH

Tables should be submitted as editable text and not as images, and should be placed in the main text. Tables should be submitted as editable text, not as images. Number tables consecutively in accordance with their appearance in the text and place any notes below the table body. Please ensure that the data presented in the tables do not duplicate the results described in the article. Please avoid using vertical rules and shading in the table cells. Table 1 presents a sample of the table.

DISCUSSION ← Heading 1_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

This section discusses the significance of the results of the study. Please avoid extensive citations and discussion of the published literature, rather explain the discussion of the results. Please highlight the differences between your results, findings, and previous publications.

CONCLUSION ← Heading 1_IJLSH

Text 1_IJLSH

Conclusion contains a description that should answer the objectives of research. Provides a clear and concise conclusion. Do not repeat the abstract or simply describe the results of the study. Provide a clear explanation of the possible applications and/or suggestions related to the research findings.
